

INSTRUCTION SHEET TO ACCOMPANY EMPLOYMENT CONTRACT

The employer and employee need to understand clearly the terms and conditions of employment.

The objective of setting out the relationship in a contract is to get the fairest working arrangement possible. A contract can help to avoid future problems by protecting the parties' rights and providing a clear statement of their obligations. A contract is a written, detailed job description that also describes the terms and conditions of employment, usually including the maximum number of hours of work per week and the wage rate for those hours of work. Nothing in the contract should violate provincial labour laws, which establish minimum employment standards such as the minimum wage.

The Government of Canada is not a party to the contract. Human Resources Development Canada (HRDC) has no authority to intervene in the employer/employee relationship or to enforce the terms and conditions of employment. It is the responsibility of each party to the contract to know the laws that apply to them and to look after their own interests.

This contract will assist HRDC officers in forming their labour market opinion, pursuant to their role under the Immigration Regulations.

Procedure

The Employer must sign an Employment contract prior to initiating the HRDC confirmation process. A sample contract has been attached. Employers may elect to supply their own contracts, the terms of which must include all the provisions outlined in the policy guidelines and sample contract. Any additional provisions in the Employer's contract must not conflict with the provisions in the sample contract or the policy guidelines.

Once the Employee has been selected, the Employer must forward him/her a copy of the contract. The Employee is then to sign the contract and must present it with other required documents at the mission abroad.

Please note that the Employer, and not a third party recruiter, must be a party to, and signatory of, the Employment contract. Third party recruiters are not to serve as signatories, either on the Employer's behalf, or otherwise. Any agreement respecting employment validations between HRDC and the Employer is contingent on the Employer being a party to this contract.
